Helensville Primary School

Athletics successes

After a tough year with no sport, Helensville Primary School had a great month of athletics in November, starting with their school athletics event, followed by the Kaipara Athletics competition. Next was the North West Zone Athletics competition at Henderson's Trust Arena for Year 7 and 8 students. The HPS team won 18 events, had many placings in the top three and was awarded first place overall, winning the NW Zone Athletics cup with 77 decisive points.

From there, the 11 students chosen to represent the North West zone in the Auckland Athletics Championships at Mount Smart Stadium were part of the school's biggest team ever. All the students performed well, with several placed in the top eight. Of special mention are:

Georgie Collinge-Coker, Year 7, 2nd in the 400m, 5th in the 800m and 8th in the high jump.

Brooke Scrivener, Year 7, 4th in the long jump.

Mila Laarakkers, Year 7, 7th in the 800m and 8th in the 1500m.

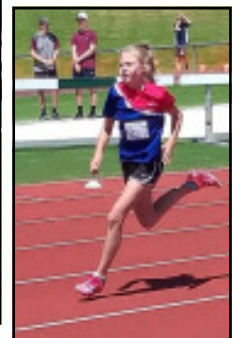

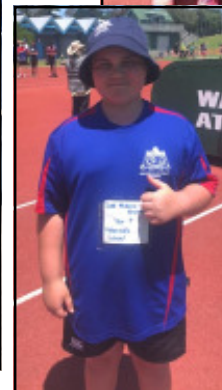

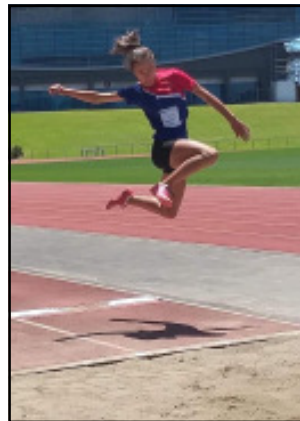

Cassandra Zickert, Year 8, 3rd in the high jump.

Ottis Oliver-Chambers was, Year 8, 5th in the 1500m.

Sports Coordinator Nicole Stokes says the school was thrilled with the results, is proud of the students who took part and grateful to the wonderful parents who transported, supported and managed the students.

Touch

Another notable sporting success was the Year 7 and 8 girls touch team, which won the North West touch competition, then competed at the Auckland Touch Championships and placed 4th overall. This was a massive achievement against some really big immediate schools.

Te Po Arohia Ake, 'Aiming High' night, 2020

Te Po Arohia Ake filled the whareniui with friends and whanau of the school's Maori and Pasifika students. Led by Cultural Director Waratah Taogaga (Ngati Whatua), and a hanau support crew, the evening consisted of acknowledging students for their efforts and success over the last two years. Students Siatua Tavui, Jock Steedman and Honney Murray were awarded taonga to acknowledge their commitment to cultural aspects of Helensville Primary School.

The event was MC'd by superstar Jordan Vahakalo (MaiFM presenter), who was very impressed by the energetic, colourful evening. HPS thanks everyone who made the evening possible and sends a huge mihi to the local businesses contributing to its success.

Citizens Advice Bureau

Te Pou Whakawhirinaki o Aotearoa

We would still like more helpers. So if you have got that empty, aimless feeling? One day sliding into the next, life without real purpose? Time on your hands, time for a change? But what to do?

Would you like to feel valued, would endless variety pep you up, lots of contact with interesting and challenging people? Got your attention have we? The Citizens Advice Bureau needs an injection of new blood, we're always looking for new volunteers, and maybe you are our next gem in disguise.

So what goes on at the CAB, who needs advice, what sort of advice? Where does the advice come from, am I supposed to know lots and lots about lots and lots? Sounds too hard really. Sorry, no.

But wait, think about it. The CAB has been operating in New Zealand since 1970 (started back in the UK in 1939, who knew?) Our proud Helensville office opened in June 1991 and has been supporting the community ever since. So what sort of things do people ask about and how am I supposed to know stuff?

Every volunteer is trained and shown how to access information by tapping into our massive information base. Volunteers are valued and appreciated and every effort is made to make sure they are comfortable in their roles and stay up-to-date. You will be rostered once a week for a two-and-a-half hour shift, with another volunteer. The office manager is there to help.

Clients make contact with the CAB for help on an amazing variety of subjects, ranging from things like tenancy issues, employment disputes, barking dogs, irritating neighbours, how to get to a hospital appointment, bus timetables, how to find a local tradesman, endless variety. But nothing ever beats us.

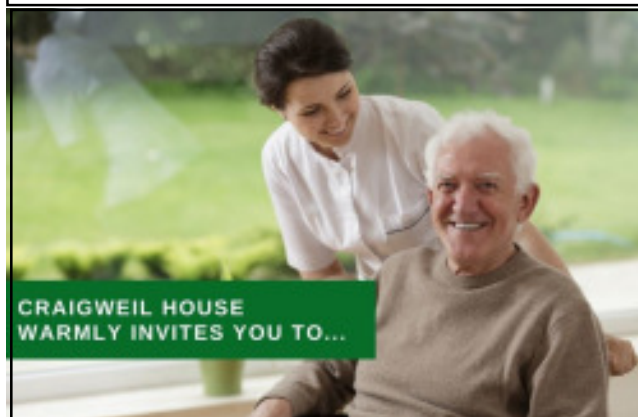

So, if you are a warm, empathetic person who basically likes your fellow man (and woman) and just likes giving something back in your community, pick up the phone (09-420-7162 for the Manager) or just walk in and have a chat with us. Go on, it might just be fun.

What's happening this month

JANUARY

Sunday, 17 January, Kaukapakapa Village Market
Kaukapakapa Hall, 947 Kaipara Coast Hwy SH16, Kaukapakapa, Auckland Sunday 17 January 2021 8:30am – 1:00pm

Held on the 3rd Sunday of every month all year round, this lively village market is located in the Kaukapakapa Village a pleasant 45 minutes drive from Auckland City. There is always something fresh to experience with different musicians, entertainment and new stall holders joining the market each month—a great morning out for the family.

Sunday, 17 January, Kaukapakapa Library, 9.30am to 1pm, Meet author Janice McMurdo. Linked to her earlier work 'The Bird's Nest', author Janice McMurdo's second novel is also set around the Kaipara Harbour and South Head Peninsula, an area where she grew up. Depicting life in New Zealand in the 1930's, the characters Stefan, Lindy and Jeannie portray that with perseverance and resilience it is possible to overcome adversity. Janice draws on both her memories of the Kaipara area and her study of hypnotherapy for her inspiration, and writes in an easy, natural way which makes you want to keep turning the pages. Come along to the Library, meet Janice and find out more. Kaukapakapa Library is open in conjunction with the Kaukapakapa Village Market. For more details, contact Megan Paterson, threehorses@xtra.co.nz, 021 959017.

Sunday, 14 March, Gibbs Sculpture Farm Weekend Visit, 10:00am – 2:00pm Gibbs Farm, 2421 Kaipara Coast Highway, Makarau, Auckland. Gibbs has collected major artworks by many world-renowned artists from New Zealand and overseas. Much of the artwork is commissioned and, as such, incorporates elements of the landscape into the artwork. The scale of many of these works is awe-inspiring. The sculpture Electrum (for Len Lye), by Eric Orr, is the world's largest Tesla coil (11.6 metres tall) and numerous artworks are large enough to be seen from satellite imagery at high magnification. The farm also includes several exotic animals such as emus and giraffes.

All Saints Kaukapakapa Cemetery

Work is progressing in the old Kaukapakapa cemetery with the worst of the restoration work almost completed. It's great to see the place 'coming back to life' and looking a little more loved.

The NZ Remembrance Army have finished the work on the veteran graves and it's fantastic to see some headstones go from being illegible to looking like new. They are voluntary group, and it has been an honour to get to know them. We are incredibly grateful to have had their support. You can find out more about them on their Facebook page.

Thompson Memorials have also been doing an outstanding job getting some of our fallen back in to an upright position. It's been an interesting exercise finding out more about some of the older graves. We thought the McLeod grave would be related to the Helensville McLeods, or the Waipu McLeods who married into the Simcock family. Turns out they were McLeods from Henderson's Mill and are related to the Lindsays and the Shanks families.

Next time you're passing the cemetery, drop in for a visit, it's an important part of the history of Kaukapakapa Village. We have also just started up a 'Friends of All Saints Cemetery, Kaukapakapa' Facebook page. There's more work to do, but thanks to everyone who has been involved from the All Saints Kaukapakapa cemetery committee and Megan Paterson.

PROFILE

Patryce Salmon, a young lady going places

The Helensville Community News was approached by Patryce because she wants to become an investigative journalist. With such ambition, and at the young age of 11, she realised she needed to gain experience with an existing publication before moving into this type of writing.

Patryce sent an email to the paper via the Community News website which opened with "My name is Patryce Salmon, and I am an 11-year-old journalist." With such an intriguing opening there was no choice but to follow up and arrange to meet Patryce.

It is clear that Patryce is a bold and confident young lady, "I wasn't really expecting a reply, but when I got one, I thought I had better tell my Mum," she said. On meeting Patryce and her mother it became obvious that a young person with such focused ambition, such a clear plan for their future and such a strong work ethic deserves any assistance the paper can provide.

Raised in Parakai and attending Helensville Primary School, Patryce is a familiar face to many people in the area. A natural performer, Patryce is involved in the Pasifika group at her school. She also enjoys drawing, science and crafts, but writing is her great ambition.

It was at Helensville Primary School that she first discovered her passion for writing. "My teachers don't always like my subject matter, but they always tell me my stories, articles and essays are well written." After persuading her teacher she was able to write, she was allowed to write and publish her very own class newspaper, which she called 'The Lavender Street Chronicle'. She has since been asked to contribute to the Helensville School Newsletter next year. Now, because of that email, she has been given the opportunity to write for the Helensville Community News.

In 2018, Patryce came across the story of Hilde Lysiak, an American journalist as young and ambitious as herself. Hilde, born November 2006, is an American journalist who has published the Orange Street News, a local newspaper in Selinsgrove, Pennsylvania since 2014 and in Patagonia, Arizona since 2019. She is the youngest member of the Society of Professional Journalists.

Patryce has big dreams of writing for and illustrating her own news website one day.

We're delighted to be able to give Patryce her first reporting assignment for our February issue, and look forward to working with her.

MARK FOSTER

PROFILE

Mark Dennis by Helen Martin

Mark Dennis moved to Parakai with his family when he was in his teens. He has worked in a number of roles at Parakai Springs since he was a university student and has been Operations Manager there for the past five years. He and his partner Rachel have three young children. For most people this would be enough commitment, but Mark is one of those people whose boundless energy and sense of community obligation leads him to keep taking on other roles.

He says his boss, Dion Tilson, has been a good role model. "Dion's always involved in everything. He got me onto the community patrol early on and I was secretary of that for a while." Obviously, community involvement suited Mark because, as a result of playing tennis with Dion and co-worker Annette, he became a committee member of the local tennis club. In 2018 he won the prestigious New Zealand Gardener of the Year accolade, awarded to our "horticultural superheroes" by New Zealand's oldest gardening magazine and decided by popular vote. "I always have a garden and thought I could plant extra to give away, then I decided to chuck a stand up outside and the idea caught on. I didn't really intend it to be a big thing," he says. But a big thing it became, with the idea catching on not just locally but throughout New Zealand and then, thanks to the internet, in countries overseas. In the 2019 Kiwibank New Zealander of the Year Awards Mark won a local hero medal for creating the community and vege stand movement. He is still the administrator of the Community and Vege Stands Facebook page he established "for the community to share their spare produce from their gardens. Giving value to fruit and veg that might otherwise go to waste...". The page now has 12.8K members.

Because Mark knows Facebook pages can play a big role in fostering community spirit, he also carries out the time-consuming work of administering several others - Helensville and Parakai Community, Parakai Springs, North West Country, and Palmerston North Community.

Significantly, his latest voluntary role is as the new chairperson of the North West Country Association, Business Improvement District (BID), which serves Kaukapakapa, Helensville, South Head, Huapai, Waimauku, Kumeu and Riverhead. He says the organisation understands the amazing potential North West Auckland has to offer as Auckland's playground, and has a strong focus on attracting visitors to the region. Also front of mind is the understanding that the backbone of a business association is ensuring local businesses are heard and supported, whether this is through advocacy, training or brand recognition. He says there is much to look forward to, including the Helensville Commercial Road development, which will see tangible progress in the area.

Addressing the fact that some businesses may still be critical of BID, Mark says the association has a responsibility to listen to any concerns, do its best to represent and support the whole area and continue to make the region's brand recognisable. He'd like anyone with comments, ideas or changes they would like to see implemented to get in touch. With Christmas around the corner and the usual local parades cancelled because of COVID-19, BID has put up Christmas trees in Kumeu and Helensville and funded Christmas lights for businesses to decorate their shop fronts. "It's about generating some Christmas spirit and encouraging people to spend locally."

Mark likes to get involved because he likes to see progress. In another big venture he's working towards becoming a Justice of the Peace, something which is music to the ears of those hoping more younger people will join up. "You hear something's going on and you ask if people need a hand," he says. "I can help out with stuff."

From Penk's Pen Declaring a Traffic Emergency

Happy New Year! I hope that 2021 has begun really well for you all.

No doubt over the Christmas-New Year period you will have been reflecting on a crazy past 12 months, as I certainly have been. Hopefully we're in for a bit less rough a ride!

Among all the significant political and real world events of last year was a declaration of a "climate change emergency" by the government. No one disputes the importance of our natural environment so it was fair enough as far as it went. There was a healthy degree of scepticism, however, about the value of merely stating the existence of a problem where such statements are not accompanied by much meaningful action to solve the problem.

While it's right to be cynical about the value of emergency declarations made merely for the sake of appearance, therefore, I am thinking about issuing a declaration of "traffic emergency" for our area.

Simply put, the situation on our roads has become intolerable. There are major implications for quality of life, where parents spend hours travelling that they could be spending raising their kids and so on. There is a huge effect on our productivity too, given how much time we spend driving that we could better spend making or doing things. And, of course, the most important implication is the danger to life and limb that we encounter daily, just getting from A to B.

For all these reasons, I intend to announce early in 2021 that a state of emergency exists in Auckland's west, northwest and rural north where traffic is concerned. I will be proposing a number of specific measures to address this issue – bearing in mind my own injunction against vague virtue-signalling – and hoping that the central and local government decision makers get on board.

The powers that be need to know what's needed (although they've been told many times before, it should be noted) and I'll keep doing my job of letting them know all about it. Please join me in demanding better out here. After all, it's an emergency.

Lions Christmas Book Fair

- November 2020

Our Christmas Book Fair, held on 28-29 November, was a great success, raising nearly $12,000 from the sale of books and together with the raffle and sausage sizzle, held in conjunction with the Book Fair, a grand total of $13,245 was raised. This doesn't quite make up for the missed Book Fair in May, but is still a very satisfying result.

We would like to thank all of you who donated books, for without you, there would be no Book Fair. The Club would also like to thank the Friends of Lions and the wider Helensville community. Putting together a book fair is a team effort and we would not be able to cope without the assistance we receive from our community, especially the partners, friends and relatives of Club members who were present throughout the weekend. Members from Kaukapakapa/Helensville Scouts also assisted in the setting out and cleaning up of the Hall. We also wish to thank members of the Rodney Local Board for their support and Burmester Realty for letting us use their premises as a drop off point.

All the funds raised go into the Lions Club of Helensville Charitable Trust Account and will be used in our community to assist those members or organisations in need of support, as well as into community projects such as the Riverside Walkway and Rautawhiri Park.

The books left over will be re-sorted with damaged or unsaleable books going to the Helensville Recycle Centre. Surplus children's books go to South Auckland for distribution to less fortunate children and when there is container space, to Pacific Island schools. Other books are sold at the Lions book stall at the Kaukapakapa Market, which is held on the third Sunday of each month, and at other events run by the Lions Club of Helensville throughout the year.

The next Book Fair is our Autumn Book Fair which will be held on the last weekend of May, Saturday 29th and Sunday 30th 2021, in the Helensville War Memorial Hall. As a service to the community the Helensville Lions will start accepting books in the new year. Small amounts can be left with Burmester Realty, Commercial Road, Helensville, otherwise contact Chris at 420 8527 or any other member of the Lions Club of Helensville.

Toy Fair and Market Day

by Helen Martin

In early December, to compensate for cancellation of the usual Christmas parade, Helensville Lions held a wonderful Toy Fair and Market Day in and around the War Memorial Hall.

In the space outside the hall, next to the huge festive Christmas tree provided by North West Country Business Association, events included a line dancing performance from exercise group Groovy Line Dancers and carols sung by The Cougars and played by Kumeu Brass Band. Also outside were the RSA sausage sizzle and quick fire ham raffles, stalls and the River Valley Meats truck. Good use of entrance ways and the opened-up meeting room saw the Harcourts hamper raffle and many more stalls, organised by Kaukapakapa Village Market's Sarah Legg, selling all manner of goodies suitable for Christmas presents and treats.

Inside the hall, the Toy Fair was a revelation, especially if this was your first time at such an event. Hundreds of barbie dolls and boys' toys (model tractors and trucks, for example), the teaspoon collection of Lion Yvonne Hilton (Hilty) and the results of a colouring competition for schools and pre-schools she organised took up the entire wall space, while in the centre was an elaborate model railway run by Model Railroaders of Mount Albert. To cap it off, Santa and his elves were installed in the grotto on the stage, primed to take Christmas requests from Helensville's young hopefuls.

The Toy Fair was the inspiration of Lions Pat and Scott Osborne, who have both been adding to their collections for years, and the local Lions decided to support the idea and expand the event by adding a market. Talking about community input, Hilty said the hefty hall hire was paid for by donations, and local businesses Paper Plus Select and the Two Dollar Shop donated prizes for the colouring competition. "After the year we've had it's great to see the community come together," she said. "Today there's a great atmosphere, it's very relaxed, bright and cheerful and there's plenty to see. We're very happy with the way it's turned out."

Love Flowers reborn

Following a recent stay in hospital, then going back into Lockdown during August helped me make the decision to work from home.

As they say, when one door closes another one opens, and I have never before been as busy as I am now. Thank you to all my regular clients. I am still doing what I love, by providing stunning yet affordable flowers to my customers.

Working from home has given me the freedom to choose my own hours and be my own boss. With a courier service delivering my flowers and just one part-time staff member, I am able to get back out into the community, network with people and even take time out to visit our local cafés for a much needed coffee.

My new shop is located at 30 Downer Street. It took only three weeks to be transformed from my garage to a shop. It was an amazing transformation and the speed at which it was accomplished took my breath away. Within three days the painting crew had everything painted. The builder came next, removing the garage roller door and putting in a ranch slider for easy access.

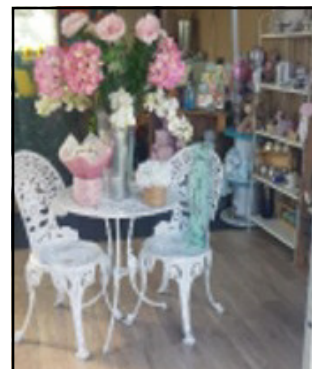

It also allows the light to flood into the shop, making it not only a wonderful place to work, but also a wonderful space to display the flowers. After the door came the floor. Down went vinyl and carpet and finally the shop fittings went in so the giftware and flowers could all be properly displayed.

The result is like a dream come true.

Buisness hours 9am to 5 pm
Monday to Saturday shop open by appointment please ring to order flowers and confirm I will be here.

*Fresh Flower markets
Monday, Wednesday, Friday*
Flowers for special occasions can be arranged and delivered to any venue in the area

First Aid for All

Kim McNamara has been out and about teaching first aid to the Helensville and surrounding community. There are going to be several free first aid courses coming up in 2021 for parents. Actions for survival, First Aid and First Response Training have run two courses in the area and they have both been very successful. If you are interested make sure you keep an eye out for courses in the new year.

Kim is a trained first aid instructor and assessor. So if, just maybe, you need a first aid certificate for work or voluntary work, feel free to contact her so that she can sort out what best suits your needs. There are options for doing first aid courses now, including doing part of the course online.

Helensville Library news

New year is a time of reflection and planning. Your Helensville Library team is also planning for the coming year.

We would love to get out and see more of you in the community – and more of you in the library. If you have any ideas for an event / occasion you think we could help with – get in touch.

The success of our inaugural Book Tasting event held in October has whetted our appetite – and we would love to hold another one some time during the year.

Would you like to be part of a book club? If so we could help to arrange that with you.

Want to learn a new craft or skill? Do you have a craft or skill you would like to pass on to others? Would a 'crafternoon tea' work for you?

Have a think and get in touch.

Our email address is: helenlib@aucklandcouncil.govt.nz

Or you can message us on Facebook: facebook.com/HelensvilleLibrary.

The Lions Roar

It has been a very busy, though successful, few weeks for Helensville Lions. All our events were so well supported – we thank you all. All money raised goes to help those in need of support in our community. The more we make, the more locals we can help.

We passed our target for the book fair selling thousands of books. Our first Christmas Festival was a free event with many walking through our exhibits and of course Santa was kept busy. We sold out of sausages at the recycling centres Christmas evening and we continue to support the Kaukapakapa market.

So despite of, or in spite of COVID-19, Helensville rose to the occasion.

We hope you and your families all had a very happy Christmas and that you will have a happy and healthy 2021

Exhibition and hours

The Art Centre will reopen on Wednesday, 20 January 2021.

The first exhibition, Wood and Wool, featuring the work of wood artist Ray Scott and wool artist Fiona McBride, will run from Saturday 23 January to Sunday 21 February. As an extra bonus, you will be able to meet the artists at the gallery on Sundays from 10am to 4pm.

A workshop/class schedule is under construction for Term 1 2021 so keep an eye on the Facebook page.

Hours are 10am – 4pm, Wednesday to Saturday.

Award

Congratulations to Art Centre Board chairperson Leda Daniel whose abstract artwork won a Merit Award at the Hibiscus and Bays Art Awards held at the Estuary Art Centre, Orewa.

The judges commented that Leda's piece was "A joyous and playful painting, bold in scale and shape, with beautiful jewel-like colours."
